

The decision by Sinclair Broadcasting to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is an abuse of the public interest. The Washington Post reports that Sinclair's top executives are strong financial contributors to the Bush campaign. Thus, it is clear that Sinclair has chosen partisanship over their obligation to serve the public interest.

Thank you.